Project title: MusicaBox

Project description:

It is a website where you can create an account, search for songs and artists from around the world, and listen to clips. Therefore, you can set and update your profile, create a list of songs that you like, search for other users to see their favorite songs, and see the current music events in the world. In addition, we made an admin part for the website, where the admins can update or delete users and change their own profile.

Functionality:

users:

- Create an account
- Search for a song
- Search an artist
- Search a user
- Display music events
- Listen songs extract
- Update Profile

admins:

- Display all users
- Delete a user
- Update a user
- Update admin account

API fetch calls:

We used two APIs: the Deezer API and ticketMaster API. The fetch calls are done by the fetch() function found in both ‘features.mjs’ and ‘login-signup-user.mjs’.

You can find the Deezer API fetch calls in ‘features.mjs’ at lines 13, 48, 62, and 85.

You can find the TicketMaster API in ‘login-signup-user.mjs’ at line 99

Changes From Original Design :

- Added an Admin interface that allows to manage users, update and remove them and update admin's profile.
- Added the ticketmaster API to display next big events.
- Added a user profile page so he can update their information
- Added the admin table
- Changed the proposed colors for the website
- Password verification

Admin credential:

username: admin | password: secret

User credentials:

username: Gabriel | password: Gabriel123
username: Anthony | password: Anthony123
username: Aryll | password: Aryll123
username: Alexandre | password: Alexandre123

Task Distribution:

Anthony Pietri and Gabriel Pillegand focused on the back end. They implemented the database, the API calls, and all the routes to render on the front end. Also, they implemented the login and signup process with a user session system and hashed passwords in the database. In addition, they made two functions to identify if a person is logged in as a user or an admin.

Alexandre Peraldi and Aryll Pacheco focused on the front end making sure that the page was readable to the user. This includes navigation and the general design of the website.
